

Greener excursions: Building relationships

Building relationships with the stakeholders related to your new excursion product is an important and ongoing process. It can take some time, but will help you create a unique product.

Read on to find out more about stakeholder engagement from the Travel Foundation's guide: Greener Excursions: Building relationships